SAINT JOSEPH'S COLLEGE, CALUMET CENTER

October 2, 1961

President's Reception

A President's Reception was held on Sunday, October 1, from 2 to 4 p.m., at the Calumet Center. The reception was sponsored by the Calumet Chapter of the Parent's Club of St. Joseph's College. The purpose of the reception was to acquaint the students' parents with the school and the various administrative and faculty members as well as with the members of the Parent's Club.

The President of the College, the Very Reverend Raphael H. Gross, was present to receive the parents. Assisting him was the Director, Rev. Henry J. Martin, various faculty members and the president of the Parent's Club, Mr. Justin Seroczynski.

Rev. Joseph Otte, moderator of the Parent's Club, stated that various members of the Club, together with Student Council members, served as hosts. Refreshments included coffee and cookies.

As entertainment, the choral group sang a few numbers, which included "Oh Dear What Can the Matter Be," "Syncopated Clock," "The Orchestra" and "Let's Dance." Miss Rose Maria Scozzaro, Instructor in Music, accompanied.

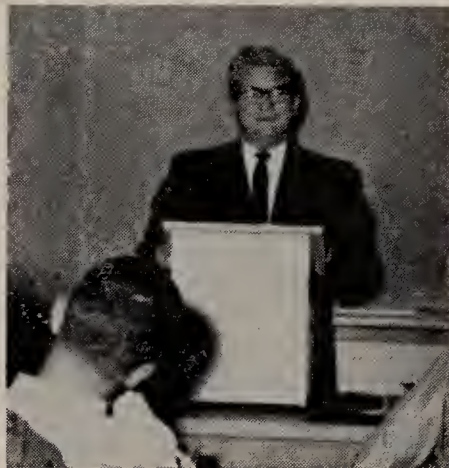

Miss Florence Spuehler, Instructor in Fine Arts, displayed various art pieces produced by her students. This display was in the Art Room and open for all to inspect and admire.

All parents of students attending the Calumet Center were invited to attend this reception. It provided an excellent opportunity to observe the progress the school has made. This opportunity also included the privilege of meeting and conversing personally with the President and the Director of the College. The faculty answered many questions regarding the social and academic life of the students. Parent's Club members too explained their purposes and activities. All students were urged to extend this invitation to their parents so that they might receive a better understanding of College life.

Judge McKenna Addresses St. Joe Students on Sunday Closing Law

Sunday "blue law" defendants "harassing the criminal court" by asking for jury trials will find the court retaliating "in its own way," according to Judge John H. McKenna.

"We'll just docket these jury cases for the week before Christmas," he said. "I don't think they'll like that so much."

The Lake County Criminal Court judge made the statement Tuesday while lecturing a marketing class at St. Joseph's College Calumet Center in East Chicago.

McKENNA said that although Sunday closing of business is traceable to religious origin, the legal position is secular.

"The legal position is that man's body needs demand a day of rest and the state is protecting the individual by providing him with that day," he stated.

The Rev. Henry Martin, director of the college center, said Judge McKenna was invited to lecture the marketing class because enforcement of blue laws throws new light on modern marketing methods, especially since an Illinois auto dealer stated he conducted 20 per cent of his business on Sundays.

Father Martin said the invitation was in line with the new policy of the school to bring informed speakers, "persons practicing the theories we teach," into the classroom for direct discussion with students.

St. Joseph Freshmen To Elect Officers

Election campaigns for candidates for office in the freshman class at St. Joseph's College Calumet Center will begin Oct. 9, the Rev. Joseph Smolar, Dean of Students, announces.

Upperclassmen selected their class officers last spring.

Father Smolar said freshman candidates will give their campaign orations on Oct. 16 and the election will be conducted from Oct. 16 to Oct. 18.

Heading their respective classes are Walter Schultz, of 1804 Oliver St., Whiting, seniors; Vince Chiaro, of Chicago, juniors and Joe Modjeski, of 1448 Elliott Dr., Munster, sophomores.

Philip Seroczynski, of 243 Webb St., Hammond, is President of the Student Council of St. Joseph's College Calumet Center.

Name Mr. Lewin East Chicago "Dimes" Chief

Mr. Irving L. Lewin, Instructor of Marketing at St. Joseph's College, and also an East Chicago businessman, will head the city's 1962 March of Dimes.

Max Voyt, chairman of the Lake County Chapter of the National Foundation, announced Lewin's reappointment today.

"His organizational experiences were highly appreciated by the chapter during last year's successful campaign," Voyt stated. "We are pleased to announce he has once again agreed to head this important function."

Mr. Lewin is also closely associated with numerous civic and fraternal groups, is a member of the advisory board at St. Joseph's College Calumet Center and is a past president of the East Chicago Chamber of Commerce.

St. Joseph's Students Intern In Area Schools

The state of Indiana, as well as most of the other states, requires prospective teachers to complete a program of student teaching. Student teaching is to the teacher as internship is to the doctor. It is the practical application of all the theory learned in the classroom. St. Joseph's Calumet Center is fortunate to have a wide variety of excellent schools in which to place its student teachers and also many fine critic teachers under whom the student works.

Presently St. Joseph's Calumet Center has ten students working "in the field."

Mrs. Sarah Boyajian is student teaching at Horace Mann High School in Gary. Her critic teacher is Mr. George Sanidas, an instructor of Biology and Physical Science at this school. Mr. Sanidas has stated that Mrs. Boyajian is the finest student teacher he has ever had.

Mrs. Phyllis Davis has been placed at Hammond High School where she is observing the teaching of Chemistry to these young scholars by Mrs. Jean Webster. Mrs. Davis is an impressive as well as familiar sight to the Wildcats in her white science robe.

The sight of training for Mr. William Heckman is Thornton Township High School in nearby Harvey, Illinois. Taking him through his paces is Miss Brushfield, an instructor in Mathematics at this institution.

Doris Johnson is being prepared for her first teaching assignment by Miss Rachel Ramsey, an instructor in Home Economics at the beautiful Highland High School.

Mrs. Mary Michelson is applying her well-learned educational theory at Hammond Noll. Supervising her exercises in Science and Mathematics is Sister Marie Amelda.

The other five of our student teachers are located in elementary schools in the area:

Mrs. Weldon Davis, under the tutelage of Mrs. Leuca, is already feeling at home at the modern Franklin School in Gary's Glen Park.

Tom Emro is being initiated to 5th and 6th grade children at Hammond Clark by Miss Rochie Allison. Tom is now having the opportunity to experiment with his "progressive methods."

Mrs. Ruth Pitts has traded the hospital for the teaching of kindergarten children. She finds it most enjoyable and challenging. Helping her adjust to the teaching field is Mrs. Constance Hill.

Mrs. Mildred Stephens is practice teaching at the Franklin School in East Chicago. Her capable coach is Mrs. Umbarga.

Mrs. Margaret Patterson is at the Williams School in Gary under the watchful eyes of Mrs. Vaddie Wilson.

OTHER TEACHERS in Teacher Education may look forward to their teacher internship after the completion of at least 100 hours of their college work and the successful passing of their professional education courses.

Students who intend to do practice teaching next semester are reminded to make application with Mr. Melevage, Director of Teacher Training, in Room 208.

Name Mr. Donnelly To St. Joseph Center Staff

Assignment of John Joseph Donnelly, Park Forest, to the staff of St. Joseph's College Calumet Center was announced today by the Rev. Henry J. Martin, Dean and Director.

A methods engineer at Inland Steel Co. for four years, Mr. Donnelly will be an instructor in marketing. A graduate of St. Joseph's College, Rensselaer, he received his bachelor of arts degree in business administration and, at Loyola University, received his master's degree in industrial relations.

Mr. Donnelly was on the varsity football team at St. Joseph's four years and was voted most valuable player in both 1952 and 1954. He was a member and president of the college Monogram Club and held membership in the Commerce Club and Inter Club Committee of the Student Council.

MORE SPACE - MORE ART

The Art Room, on September 20, took on a new appearance.

The north wall of the room has been completely emptied, leaving room for three tables to extend from the wall out into the room. These tables will be hinged to the wall, allowing them to be raised and lowered, thus enabling the room to be enlarged when needed. Two lockers and one shelf have also been removed to provide more space. If needed, two more tables may be set up in the middle of the room.

Miss Spuehler felt it more important for her students to work in comfort than to have the additional storage space. At the present, all is compact and neat. With the cooperation of her students the art room will stay that way.

Seymour Doolittle Returns to Shavings

"Hi, administration, faculty, fellow students, old and new members of our staff. My vacation was swell, but I'm happy to be back in the 'ole routine again. I've been busy the past two weeks just watching all of you. As you 'ole timers know, I am never seen, but I see all that happens in the halls, lounges and classrooms of St. Joe's. I'd better get down to business and clue you in on some of the latest:

Congratulations to: Ardiene Rueth, Dianne Miller, Helen Isenburg, Sharry Keilman, Bunny Kochis and Mary Lou Skafish for the fine job they did of cheerleading at the first St. Joe's football game. Keep up the good work gals—we need you. YES, I was there!

Madeleine Frechette and Jim Sandrick deserve a hand for their 'professional' performance in the talent show held after the St. Joe vs. Hillsdale game.

Dianne Miller requests glue and rubber bands, and plenty of them, for the fenders of her car. She loses them once in a while.

Is the stone on Sharry Keilman's "third finger, left hand" real? Congratulations, Joe; best wishes, Sharry.

Hats off to the sophomores on the successful bake sale. I gained 5 pounds, kids!

A big "THANKS" to Fr. Smolar, Mr. Lazur and Phil Seroczynski for planning the first student trip to South Campus. A good time was had by all.

Do you like lined or unlined curtains? What would you do if you saw a frog? Ask Liz Szelestey about these, she has the answers.

Let's keep the quiet air in the reading room. It's for our convenience, you know.

Could it be that Vince Chiaro had to pay out a dollar lately? What was it you did, Vince?

At $1.50 per person, the sophomores better use Marion Blue Grass for their hayride. We're just poor folk!

Welcome back to Bob Horn, who was recently released from the hospital.

Welcome! new members of the faculty. We're glad to have you at St. Joe's.

Well students, until next week, keep busy, study hard and be good.

CAUTION: I see more and doo-little — So long!"

Three More Ride Carousel

Madeleine Frechette, Jocelyn Kissela and Jim Sandrick will appear in the forthcoming production of "Carousel," the Marian Theatre production scheduled for late October and early November at Marian Auditorium, Whiting.

Poetry Conference

The Lake County Poetry Club will hold a conference and workshop in the Indiana University Extension Gary Center, Oct. 7 to 9. The workshop will be conducted by Mr. Thomas E. Francis, Seton Hall University, and Mr. Alfred Dorn, New York University.

Speakers will include Sister M. Madeleva, CSC, poet and former president of St. Mary's College, Notre Dame; Pulitzer Prize-winning poet Gwendolyn Brooks; Nelson Algren, author; August Durlith and Alfred Dorn, poets.

Admission for adults is $5; for students, $2.50.

The Conquering Of a Campus

The normally peaceful Rensselaer Campus was invaded by approximately fifty C.C. girls for the Hillsdale-St. Joe football game and talent show, Saturday, September 16. A busload of excited females left the Center around 9:45 a.m. and headed towards indefensible territory, preceded by a few carloads of curious males.

The hour and a half trip was spent in planning strategy; by 11:30 the destination had been reached and the time for action had come. The students were met by Collegeville Student Council members. Each person received free meal and game tickets and an I.D. card.

Lunchtime found the usually dull cafeteria suddenly alive with brightly-colored dresses and young girlish voices. Somehow, it was said, they added just the right seasoning.

The Rec-Hall was converted into the main battlefield. Most of the strategy and formal tactics were performed right there — without much resistance.

At 2:00 sharp another battle began. This time it was the Pumas against Hillsdale, Michigan. Although the first two lucky minutes scored two touchdowns for Hillsdale, the Pumas held their own for the rest of the game. St. Joe's scoring in the third quarter was well-earned, yet Hillsdale came out the winner with a score of 28 to 7. Much credit is due to our new cheerleaders who spurred the grandstands into spirited chants of encouragement.

After meals came the grand finale — the talent show which consisted of the combined talent of both campuses. Mr. Lazur acted as co-producer and M.C. The first entertainer was Paul Geddert, a Rensselaer boy, who must have been born playing the piano. His modern-type music was appreciated by all.

Next, the audience was introduced to the "8 Pennies" or C.C. choral group. Accompanied by Miss Rose Maria Scozzaro, the girls sang "Let's Dance" to the tune of chopsticks.

Following this act came Huck Quigley, Rensselaer, who invoked much riotous laughter with his imitations of Jonathan Winters.

The Tringston Kio, consisting of John Clark, Jim Ross and George Carsey, all of them Collegeville cats, played some contemporary favorites. "Banua," "A Frog Went a' Courting" and "A Hole in the Bucket" made up their act, but as an encore they came up with "Tom Dooley."

Liz Szelestey portrayed Ado Annie in her pantomime "I Cain't Say No" from Oklahoma. Following was Jim Sandrick who sang "A Dixie Melody." As a climax, he and Madeleine Frechette, both from the Center, sang "Three Jolly Coachmen" and "Chariot's a Comin'," accompanied by Jim Ross. Their extemporaneous shenanigans almost caused a riot. They concluded the program by including the audience in a community sing of "Michael."

Following the talent show everyone was invited to the Rec-Hall. By this time all resistance had been subdued and the invasion was complete. Everyone enjoyed himself either by dancing or just plain talking. When 9:30 suddenly came around, the dejected girls began to slowly pile into the bus while disappointed fellas gathered around with fond farewells.

The trip home became progressively quieter except for brief whispers and occasional giggles — the type of sounds that hint of deep-dark but wonderful secrets. Anyone interested in taking another student trip?

Hay-Ride Planned For Student Body

October 7, 1961, is the date guaranteed to insure a good time for the students of the Calumet Center. A hay-ride sponsored by the sophomore class is planned for that evening between 8 p.m. and midnight. The farm on which the ride will take place is located in Munster. It belongs to one of our classmates, Ernie Roth. The final day for making reservations is October 5.

Joc Modjeski, president of the sophomore class, explained that a deadline for making reservations must be set so that he will have ample time to make adequate preparations.

Mr. Lazur, who is the faculty sponsor for this event, said the price of $1 per person will include food and drink as well as a two and one-half hour ride.

Since the hay-ride is open to the entire student body as well as to guests of students, reservations should be made as soon as possible, because only a limited number of wagons are available. Reservations can be made by contacting Christine Chandler.

The trek will begin at 8 p.m. and end at approximately 10:30 p.m. The evening will be concluded with a fireside meal, ending at midnight.

Detailed directions will be posted soon on the bulletin board.

First Thoughts of A Cheerleader

The team is on the field and the crowd is in the stand and you are in the middle. GULP! This is the first reaction, the first emotion a cheerleader experiences in her first game of the season. Will they yell or will they sit like a rock? Will they jeer or will they cooperate? Will they think us good enough to cheer along and answer our yells?

It seemed that these fears were unfounded. The team seemed to generate a spirit of fight into us and the crowd. Unfortunately, during several parts of the game, many in the crowd seemed to lose it.

The team, the crowd, the cheerleaders and the season are young. If our team shows as much fight in the future games, as they did against Hillsdale, then that should be our only defeat.

We, the cheerleaders, hold an optimistic attitude for the season. But quite a bit of what the team does depends on how much spirit you can generate into them. As you have experienced, they do have the fight but we give them the spirit, and if there is no spirit there is no victory.

We will see you at the next game, complete with your loudest voices, to help cheer our team on to victory!

Choral Group Activities

The Choral Group of St. Joseph's College presented a program for the President's Reception on Sun., Oct. 1, at 2:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Miss Rose Maria Scozzaro, Instructor in Music and sponsor of the group, stated that the girls had prepared for this program for several weeks. The group consists of 14 girls who signed up for the women's chorus, a non-credit course.

The Choral Group has given various other programs in the past. Last Christmas the combined evening and day division put on a program of Christmas Carols at the Marion Theater Guild. They performed in last year's talent show and the one recently in Rensselaer; also the Orientation Day Mass was sung by them. During the year the Choral Group will be singing First Friday Masses.

On Oct. 1 their audience was entertained with such numbers as "Oh Dear What Can the Matter Be," "Syncopated Clock," "The Orchestra," and "Let's Dance."

The Choral Club actually began last year and was composed of both men and women. There were day and night divisions. Although Miss Scozzaro has started this semester with only a women's chorus which meets twice a week, during the day, she has been contemplating another mixed chorus. "I would like to get students who are really interested in music," she said, "and who would be willing to come to all the rehearsals to work."

A Pat on the Back

Win or lose, our cheerleaders deserve a big vote of thanks on the wonderful job they did for their school. They showed an undying spirit that should be an example to all of us.

There is a lot more work to this job than meets the eye. It involves many tiresome hours of practice which could be spent in some more pleasant activity.

We, of the Student Council, would like to take this time to thank the girls on their highly complimentary debut. Keep up the good work, girls; we're behind you all the way.

By the way, I don't know when I've ever seen such cute cheerleaders.

Phil Seroczynski

WE MEET

WE GO

Roving Reporter

by JOE PARROT

Question of the week: If you could manipulate the amount of time in a day according to your liking, how many hours would you put in that day? State a reason for your answer.

BARBARA KUDLA — "I would like two extra hours which would be used for study."

BOB JENNINGS — "I'm in favor of a thirty-hour day. I would then have six more hours to travel between St. Joe's and St. Margaret's Hospital."

RICH BLAJSCZAK — "I'd like a 100-hour day. That would leave me 76 more night hours."

RICHARD COOK — "I would like 11 more hours of social necessities. I spend enough time in class and doing assignments. After eating and sleeping, there isn't much time left for pleasure."

BERNARD MURPHY — "I'm in favor of a 30-hour day; 6 at 'Joe's,' 24 in bed."

PAT O'ROURKE — "If I had a 48-hour day there would be more time for me to sleep, study and recreate."

RICH MAROC — "A 36-hour day would be to my liking. I could sleep twelve and stay up twenty-four to assist my fellowmen."

PAUL LARSON — "Enough time for one to accomplish the goals he has set up for himself in life. Time usually depends on one's ideals and standards set up in bargaining for his existence. I can't set an allotted number of hours for that because that wouldn't be possible."

JERRY HORVATH — "There is enough time in a 24-hour day. The problem is to use that time efficiently. If an individual does that, he would find that there is a lot more time left over than he realizes."

BRUCE COMPANIK — "Tack on four hours to the present amount for myself. Personally, I would divide the extra time between sleep, study, and recreation."

MARY LOU SKAFISH — "An 18-hour day would be fine. If there were less hours, a person could probably accomplish more since his time would be utilized more efficiently. People waste too much time. If they had less of it, they would be more apt to begin their tasks 'right off the bat.'"

Social Work Offered

A three-semester-hour course in the profession of social work is being offered for the first time at St. Joseph's College Calumet Center on Wednesdays from 7 to 9:40 p.m. Father Joseph Semancik is the instructor.

Calumet Center Students Spend Day In Rensselaer

Students and cheerleaders of St. Joseph's College Calumet Center were among those who saw the St. Joseph's grid squad of Rensselaer fall to the Hillsdale eleven at the Rensselaer Campus, Saturday, September 16, 1961. Coach Ed Dwycr's Pumas lost the hard-fought contest to the Dales by a final score of 28 to 7.

The Hillsdale team hails from Hillsdale, Michigan, and was the first squad to face the Pumas this season.

This game marked the first of several to be seen by the students of St. Joseph's Calumet Center. The Student Council of the Calumet Center sponsored the student trip to Rensselaer. A tour of the campus and lunch in the Rec-Hall were provided for the Calumet Center students before the game.

After the game, the Rensselaer students again hosted the C.C. visitors to dinner. After the meal, students from both campuses took part in a non-competitive talent show. Various acts were enjoyed by all present.

Saturday not only proved to be a day of competition between the Dales and the Pumas, and between the two campuses, but also between the newly initiated freshmen at the Rensselaer Campus.

THE FRESHMEN, wearing red and white beanies, decorated the field at half-time with human pyramids, representing the various halls at the campus. Each of the pyramids was topped with a fight poster.

Student trips to the remaining games to be played at the Rensselaer Campus stadium were dependent upon the number of students who signed up for the Hillsdale game last Saturday. The attendance at the Hillsdale game was more than enough to warrant return trips to Collegeville.

The Pumas grid squad faced the Crusaders of Valparaiso University on September 30 for its next contest at Rensselaer, which was the second student trip to be sponsored by the Calumet Center.

Individuals Display Poor Character

"Finders keepers, losers weepers." This time-worn cliché seems to be a convenient excuse employed by a number of Saint Joe co-eds who have absconded with their fellow students' books.

Perhaps the guilty individuals should be advised to review the Ten Commandments, one of which clearly states that "Thou shalt not steal." It is difficult to understand the reason or motivation of such actions. On the one hand, modern psychology seems to think they have found an answer to the query — namely, the students' want of recognition. If this be the case it gives me great pleasure to introduce Dr. Dean's acting class where a student may display any talent he has to offer and likewise gain just recognition. On the other hand, if want of recognition is not the case and you are in dire need of text books, we could possibly arrange to have another bake sale and donate the proceeds to you — the needy.

One last note: Restitution is required for any case of theft.

THIS JOB IS TOUGH

Meet the Faculty

Mr. Raymond J. Krajewski, Instructor in English and Education at St. Joseph's Calumet Center, is one of twenty-one new members added to this year's faculty.

Beginning his collegiate education at Shrivvenham University in Shrivvenham, England, under the Army Education Program, Mr. Krajewski graduated summa cum laude from Heidelberg College in Tiffin, Ohio. He earned his master's degree in Education at DePaul University, in Chicago.

Mr. Krajewski entitled his thesis "A Survey of Adult Education in the Public Schools of Indiana Cities with a Population of Over 2500."

A member of the Indiana Council of English Teachers, Mr. Krajewski also belongs to the National Council of English Teachers, the Association for Student Teaching and the Conference on College Composition and Communication. He is an honorary member of Kappa Delta Pi.

Mr. Krajewski has previously been employed as a Laboratory Assistant at Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and has also spent eleven years as chairman of the English Department at his alma mater, Washington High School. At Indiana University in Gary, Mr. Krajewski lectured in Speech and Composition one year before coming to St. Joseph's.

During his Army career, Mr. Krajewski was a Public Relations writer.

Bowling Club

St. Joseph's Bowling League initiated its fall season Sunday, Sept. 17. Two records were broken and others were threatened.

Charlotte Hatzel, representing St. Margaret's Hospital, set a record the first game she bowled in the league. She bowled a 152 game, topping the previous high game of 150, which was held by Sharron Keilman.

Bruno Marszowski literally buried the old record for high game when he rolled a 248 game. The previous high game was 222 held by Denny Vojvodich. If it hadn't been for a slow start in his first game, Bruno might have broken the record for high series (623). He narrowly missed it with a 613 series. His scores for the series were 163, 248 and 202.

The bowling club officers wish to congratulate all the bowlers for their fine showing. Next week, team competition begins. The selected teams, the members' games, averages and series, will be published in the following issues of SHAVINGS. Team standings will be delayed one week.
